Nunatsiavut Government continues to discourage all non-essential travel

The Nunatsiavut Government is once again asking people to refrain from all non-essential travel to, from and within the Labrador Inuit Settlement Area.

“We have received numerous reports of people traveling by snowmobile to and from other communities within Nunatsiavut, as well as to and from Upper Lake Melville and Natuashish,” notes Nunatsiavut President Johannes Lampe. “I want to remind people that we all must remain vigilant to ensure we prevent exposure and potential spread of COVID-19.”

The President is encouraging all Beneficiaries to remain at home as much as possible and to continue practicing social distancing if they have to go to other areas of their communities.
