

January 4, 2022
For Immediate Release

The Nunatsiavut Government wishes to provide the following update regarding the latest on COVID-19:

- As of January 3, 15 confirmed and three presumptive cases of COVID-19 have been identified in Nain. No cases have been identified in any other Labrador Inuit community.
- Newfoundland and Labrador has moved to Alert Level 4 in an effort to decrease transmission of the virus.
- There is a significant demand for COVID-19 testing throughout the province. (On January 3, the Chief Medical Officer of Health announced some changes to address this issue.)
- Vale is keeping the Nunatsiavut Government informed about the enhanced public health measures being taken to keep workers at Voisey's Bay safe.